
student petition - course substitutions

From Hassett, Kristen <khassett@Central.UH.EDU>

Date Mon 8/31/2026 5:36 PM

To Zou, Yali <yzou@Central.UH.EDU>

Cc Chang, Daniel <dchang4@Central.UH.EDU>

 1 attachment (3 MB)

8001193_DChang_CourseSubFa26.pdf;

Hi Dr. Zou,

I hope you are well!

I've been speaking with Daniel Chang, copied on this email, about the higher education course offerings. He is taking SPEC 8394 University Teaching Practicum as an elective this semester. He also needed an "advanced methods" course to substitute for either ELCS 8330 Statistical Analyses or ELCS 8322 Advanced Ethnographic Methods, and I have had him added to CUIN 8329 Academic Publishing/Presenting to count as a substitute for one of those courses (in other words, CUIN 8329 will count as one of his advanced research methods courses). I wrote the petition to count for either one so that we can see what flexibility we have in the spring when he takes his remaining core/advanced research methods course.

My understanding is that the Higher Education program has students take advanced methods courses in either CUIN or PHLS. The spring 2027 schedule should be published the first week of October, so we'll look at those departments' courses to find the best fit for Daniel based on his dissertation research.

I've prepared the petition for the Fall 2026 semester courses so that it can be filed with the degree plan. Will you please sign it and return it to me?

Warmly,
Kristen

Kristen S. Hassett, Ph.D., NCSP (she/her; '02, '09)
Clinical Professor of Special Populations
Chair, Educational Leadership & Policy Studies
Affiliated Faculty, School Psychology
Faculty Affiliate, Rockwell Center on Ethics & Leadership
College of Education
University of Houston
Office (713) 743-3786
khassett@uh.edu
<https://uh.edu>

received this email in error, then please immediately notify the sender by return email and delete this email from your devices.